Are you running for president?
No.
Unsure.
Yes.
Do you spend too much time online?
Okay, well, as you make your choice: how do you feel about college protesters?
What party?
No.
Yes.
Bad.
Good.
D.
R.
Move to the center. You're one of the last sane ones we have left; you can't become radicalized. Someone normal needs to stand for incrementalism.
Doing what?
Move to the center then, to get away from them.
Bret Stephens just put you on a list. If you want ANY chance of EVER getting off, move to the center.
MAGA or traditional?
Scrolling X.
Groyper shit.
MAGA.
Trad.
Dear god, move to the center. Before it's too late.
I don't know what this means. Move to the center and you can talk it out with David Brooks.
Move to the center. Inject some civility into your hate speech.
Reading flan recipes.
Did you endorse Zohran Mamdani?
What kind?
Yes.
No.
You seem like a centrist already, but there's always room for improvement.
Move to the center even more.
Get so close to the meridian, in fact, that you can convincingly call yourself a Republican. This way, you might actually win an election.
Classic caramel.
Flan napolitano.
He's the nominee.
Why?
Sweet leche.
What is this Luigi-ass shit? Move to the center and stop glorifying murder.
Or Italians.
Same thing.
Now is not the time to play politics. Get to the center immediately, WHERE THE PEOPLE ARE. People like the CUOMOS. Who EXIST.
I like him.
Do you support free stuff?
Yummy. Get to the center. Like that crusted caramel.
Which I guess is technically on the bottom.
Really? Not classic?
Really? Why?
That part of the party is dead.
You're gonna try to get Mitt Romney's endorsement or something, you f-ing loser? Move to the center and find a new career.
Maybe writing for our page?
Someone moderate needs to replace Pamela Paul.
Who doesn't?
No, you're right. It's classic.
Sticking with sweet leche.
Okay, well, you clearly don't stand for anything. The center's where you belong.
Now that I think about it, the flan is irrelevant.
At times like these, the Center Must Hold.
"Who doesn't?"
Who doesn't want FREE HEALTH CARE?
CENTRISTS. Who are thinking about it logically. Move to the center and CALM THE F DOWN.